SHERWOOD'S LEAR FINE PORTRAYAL

Fresnan Wins Plaudits in Boyhood Home.

Wonderful Child Actress Takes Part of Cordelia; Company Capable.

To go away from a town a young boy and come back in a dozen years to play "King Lear" to childhood friends is an experience that few actors can boast. Yet this is not a fairy tale as it may sound, but the actual fact, and the young actor who has won the right to play Lear—the most stupendous of all Shakespeare's characters to delineate—in Mildred Sherwood. He, with a talented company of players and a production worthy of his art, played to a large audience of friends and admirers last night at the theatre.

Mr. Sherwood stands in a class all by himself in Shakespearean roles. He is at the head of his own company almost at the beginning of his career and his art appears as the seasoned talents of a much older, much more experienced actor. What years of dramatic plodding has won for others has come to him through serious thought and study, an eager mind and the real spark without which no actor truly "arrives."

One might fancy an ambitious Shakespearean artist of temperament yearning to play Hamlet or Romeo—one of the young, more romantic characters of the great bard, but to select Lear as the character to play reveals the most soaring ambition and the highest ideal. It is quite safe to say that Mr. Sherwood is the youngest Lear the stage has seen. There are tremendous demands made on strength, both physical and mental, in sustaining this character consistently and never once did he blur the vision of his audience with a false note in the character.

He interprets a bit differently from Mantell; some of the scenes were entirely changed from the Mantell version. The recognition scene with dear little Cordelia was tender and appealing and revealed the most perfect understanding of the character. In the mad scene, the audience was hushed by the solemnity and realism of Lear in his ravings.

Mr. Sherwood is surrounded by a most capable company of intelligent players. The chief support, of course, is little Miss Mildred Sherwood, the youngest Cordelia of the stage—in fact the youngest exponent of leading Shakespearean roles. Only 12 years old, she shows the training and conception of parts of an actress twice her age. She confides to you very simply that her ambition is to play Nora in Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" after Madame Sully-Prudhomme. It seems that this wonderful actress is her greatest friend and hopes great things from her, as well she may for Miss Mildred is more than a prodigy—she is a real flesh and blood little actress with ideas as serious as adorable little Cordelia herself. Scidmore does one see the character so ideally cast, for youth with the ability to interpret is the difficult problem among managers.

Also in this wonderful family is a small son aged 7, who plays a part in the young little chap who played the rough young street urchin that brought down the house in "Salvation Nell." He is a wonder and is determined to keep pace with his gifted young sister with the glorious brown eyes and wonderful temperament.

Great Sister as before did the excellent piece of work, particularly in the health scene—an opportunity to watch her rise with splendid effect. William Steiner played the very milkmaid role of the ill-fated son exceedingly well. "The play is produced under his very excellent stage management, and has none of the careless inattention in keeping with the marks of a newly formed company. The high standard observed in all the details of the big production and is complete and artistic in every respect.

But with all the surroundings of good taste and high art, Mr. Sherwood stands forth, after all, the star of the show. He is a young actor that he is. He is deep in his art—thinks it, feels it, lives it. His ideas are all his own—not borrowed from other exponents of Shakespeare, for he confides to never having seen Mantell—the ideal of a great many young aspirants for fame.

Yet, last and all the time he has still of the world's varieties and of work it means, too, to play Lear at Fresno theater goes saw it played last night. Mr. Sherwood will play again tonight in the same role.

KNOX OUSTS CRANE FOR LACK OF TACT

Further inaccurate in saying that I gave out a newspaper story about the preparation of a report in regard to the agreement between China and Japan. It would have been more accurate if the statement had said, as was indicated in its own closing paragraph, that a brief conversation of mine with a newspaper reporter had contributed to the publication by him of a discussion of this agreement and the possibility of a protest by this government and that the department regarded this conversation as "intentionally misleading." The statement, however, in my name, for in my judgment would have been a mistake if the department of state had not chosen to vouch for its accuracy and give it an official significance by its own conduct.

"It certainly contained nothing of substance that was not matter of common knowledge or deducible by any competent newspaper reporter from facts commonly known. The substance of the agreement had been published and its effect had been widely discussed. An illustration of this, the New York Herald had published on September 5th the following dispatch:

"Tokio, Wednesday.—The Tokio press regrets that the Anglo-American press is raising the usual protest against Japan regarding the new China-Japan convention. It states that the Manchurian railways are administered in accordance with America's long cherished motto of the 'open door policy.' Moreover, it adds the convention now now is a well known fact and America cannot change it, however much it may dislike it."

"The publication complained of by the State Department was not made until September 27th. This also has a significant bearing upon the question of recent charges in the secretary's telegram to me at San Francisco.

TOLD TO TALK.

"In order to understand how this matter came to be mentioned, it is necessary to make a brief explanation. When I accepted the appointment as minister to China at the request of the President, he expressed the earnest wish that the people of this country should be aroused to a keen interest in the Pacific situation, both commercially and politically, and he felt that the greatest solution lay there and that our people were not fully awake to its importance.

"As I stated in a public address in Chicago on September 14th, the President advised me to accept all available invitations to public meetings and dinners and said: 'Do not neglect to speak to them, and when you go to one, insist on speaking and let them have it red hot.'

"I assumed the President wished me to discuss realities and not platitudes. I had not been in the country long and I was and is a difficult rule, but I have done my best to carry out the President's wishes.

"The difficulty has already been increased by the absence of specific instructions from the State Department and of any adequate discussion with its officials as to the policy of this government. I have been much gratified that no criticism had come to me from any official source, until I was recalled to Washington last week.

LACK OF INSTRUCTIONS.

"With the previous approval of the President, I had arranged to go to China by way of Europe, where I might have conferences with well informed and influential persons of widely divergent interests and points of view, and I had made many valuable suggestions to the State Department. Mr. Knox, it would be recalled, suggested to me to proceed via the Pacific. Contrary to my understanding that this matter should be fully discussed with the President in conference with Secretary Knox, the secretary informed me that it would be unnecessary to see the President and that I should proceed by way of Japan. It was then agreed that I should sail on October 5th, with the minister of Japan.

"I was told letters would be given to me and arrangements made for seeing important persons in Japan. I have not since then seen Secretary Knox except on last Sunday, nor have I had any adequate discussion with the department as to its policy.

"Some days before the date set for my departure, I came to Washington and after considerable difficulty made a number of appointments with the first assistant secretary of state, not one of which did he keep or explain his failure to do so. His papers, not his failure to do so, were made for me, when I left Washington for San Francisco with just time to catch the steamer. I have not examined the papers from the State Department which reached me in San Francisco after the secretary's telegram recalling me to Washington.

"As I was hurriedly leaving Washington a representative of an important paper asked me about the China-Japan agreement and I said the matter was under consideration, as is well known by all who have read the news. I do not recall it, that obviously no statement will be prepared in the absence of Mr. Hoyt. I advised him to get thoroughly informed upon the whole subject as it is of the greatest importance that it be handled intelligently by the American press if official action were taken.

"This is the sum of my offending. On mature consideration, it is my judgment that my action was in accordance with the spirit at least of the President's wishes, expressed by him to me and that it furnished no sufficient excuse for the sensational and irresponsible action of the secretary of state.

"However, I did not seek this post and am absolutely unwilling to remain in it without the entire confidence of the President and the cordial support of the government."

JAPANESE PLEADED.

TOKIO, Oct. 12.—Little surprise was expressed by officials here at the news that Secretary Knox had determined to recall Charles H. Crane when he was on the eve of sailing as minister to China. Leading newspapers print long special dispatches giving reasons for Mr. Crane's recall, most of the papers taking the stand that the reported utterances of Mr. Crane were exaggerated. Statements that President Taft approved of Mr. Crane's attitude and that the recalled minister had repeated only what he had heard from the president, caused much comment here.

Officials said that if Mr. Crane actually had disclosed the attitude of the United States government, his recall was inevitable. However, they declined to believe, they said, that Washington had any intention of protesting the Chinese-Japanese agreement, because they asserted there was absolutely no ground for such action. Leading Japanese newspapers, however, expressed gratification at the action of Secretary Knox, since they said it indicated intention to discomfite precluded speeches and an unfriendly attitude of officials in dealing with Japanese.

PEARY ISSUES HIS STATEMENT

A.—Did not remember exactly, but something under twenty.

B.—How many sledges did they have when they came back to land?

A.—Two.

Did they have any provisions left on their sledges when they came back to land?

—Yes; the sledges still had about all they could carry so they were able to take but a few things from the caches.

WENT SOUTHWEST.

From here they went southwest along the north coast of Heibergland to a point indicated on the map Sverdrup's Cape Northwest.

From here they went west across the ice which was level and covered with snow, offering good going, to a low island which they had seen from the shore of Heibergland at Cape Northwest. On this island they camped for one sleep.

The size and position of this island as shown by the first boy was criticized by the second boy as being too large and too far to the west. The second boy calling the attention of the first to the fact that the position of the island was more nearly in line with the point where they had left Heibergland (Cape Northwest) and the line between Amund Ringnesland and Ellef Ringnes land, this criticism and correction was accepted by the first boy who started to change the position of the island but was stopped as Commander Peary had given instructions that no more changes or erasures were to be made in the route as drawn by the Eskimo on the chart.

From this island they could see two lands beyond Sverdrup's, Ellef Ringnes and Amund Ringnes lands.

From the island they journeyed toward the left hand one of these lands (Amund Ringnesland), passing a small island which they did not visit.

Arriving at the shores of Amund Ringnesland the Eskimos killed a deer as indicated on the chart.

AN IMPOSSIBLE FEAT.

The above italicized portion of the statement of the Eskimo boys covers the period of time which the Commander claims to have gone to the pole and back and the entire time during which he could possibly have made any attempt to go to it.

The answers of the Eskimo boys to Commander Peary's series of independent questions showing that they killed a game, made no caches, lost no dogs and returned to the land with loaded sledges, make their attainment of the pole on the trip north of Cape Thomas Hubbard, a physical and mathematical impossibility. As it would demand the subsistence of three men and over twenty dogs during a journey of two hundred and forty geographical miles on less than two sledges loads of supplies.

If it is suggested that perhaps Dr. Cook got mixed and that he reached the pole or thought he had reached the pole, leaving the northwest coast of Heibergland at Cape Northwest and his arrival at Ringnesland, where they killed the deer, we must then add to the date of Dr. Cook's letter of March 17.—At or near Cape Thomas Hubbard the subsequent four or five days required to march from Cape Thomas Hubbard to Cape Northwest (a distance of some eight hundred miles) which would advance his date of departure from the land to at least the 25th of March and he prepared to accept the claim that he had reached Cape Northwest about latitude 80 and a half degrees to the pole, a distance of 500 geographical miles in twenty-seven days.

JOURNEY TO SOUTH.

After killing the deer they then traveled south along the east side of Ringnesland to the point indicated on the chart, where they killed another deer. They then went east across the south part of Crown Prince Gustav Sea to the south end of Heibergland, then down through Norwegian Bay, where they secured bear, but not until after they had killed some of their dogs in the north of Graham Island, then eastward to the little bay marked "Bird Point" on Sverdrup's chart; then southwest to Hells Gate and Simmons Peninsula.

Here for the first time during the entire journey, except as already noted of Cape Thomas Hubbard, they encountered open water. On this point they boys were clear, emphatic and unshakable.

They spent a good deal of time in this region, and finally abandoned their dogs and one sledge, took to their boat, crossed the Hells Gate to North Kent, up into North Kent, then back across the north coast of Colin Archer Peninsula to Cape Vera where they obtained fresh sled dog eggs. Here they cut the remaining sled dog off, that is shortened it, as it was awkward to transport with the boat, and made here their killed a walrus.

The statement in regard to the fresh deer and eggs means the approximate determination of the date at this time as about the first of July.

This statement also serves, if indeed anything more than the inherent straight forwardness and detail of their narrative were needed, to substantiate the accuracy and truthfulness of the boys' statement.

This locality of Cape Vera is mentioned in Sverdrup's narrative as the place where, during his stay in that region, he obtained older duck eggs.

INTO WATER QUARTERS.

From Cape Vera they went on down into the southwest angle of Jones Sound, where they killed a seal, thence along the south coast of the sound, killing three bears at the point noted on the map, to the peninsula known as Cape Sparbo, about midway in the south side of Jones Sound. There they killed a seal again, and, continuing east, killed four more at the place indicated on the chart and were finally stopped by the pack ice at the mouth of Jones Sound. From here they turned back to Cape Sparbo, where they killed a seal and a walrus again.

After the sun returned in 1909 they started pushing their sledges across Jones Sound to Cape Fenimore; then along the coast to Florence Head (passing inside of two small islands, not shown on the chart, but shown on the map) where they killed a bear, three seals, the broad light in the coast to Cadogan Head; thence around Cape Isabella and up to Commander Peary's old house in Dyer Harbor, near Cape Sabine, where they found a seal cached for them by Peary. (See Peary's map.) From here they crossed Smith Sound on the ice arriving at Anaktuvuk.

CITY WATER SAVES

Private Ownership.

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 12.—The water collector for the city water system has been notified that after the first of the coming month there will be a second reduction made in the rates. This will be the second within eight months of city ownership. It means in effect that the city, besides adding $5000 to betterments of the plant is earning such a dividend upon the money invested that the product is furnished to the users 20 per cent cheaper than under private ownership.

At a meeting of the city council held last night, the controversy between the city authorities and the owners of traction engines, was settled when the city passed an ordinance which will keep this sort of hauling almost entirely outside of the city limits. Some time ago this ordinance was up for consideration. Upon the assurance of the owners of engines that at the expiration of the season they would repair all damage and when they had agreed to file a bond conditioned upon their keeping this promise, the ordinance was definitely held up. At the last meeting, but one of the council, a week was given to the owners to have this bond filed. Last night it was reported that no move had been made to fill the conditions, and the new law will go into effect after its due publication. In that regulation it is stated that no loaded wagon, carrying more than 7500 pounds, shall be hauled over the streets, and that no machine with flanged wheels, weighing above the amount may be hauled over certain streets. This means that either the lumber company must either move its mills here or haul its lumber by means of teams.

The latter is much more expensive and may mean that the company will discontinue doing business here.

Supervisor Harbidge has introduced a ten-ton steam roller and road machine for use in this district. Attached to the roller is a smoothing and grading device, so that all of the operations, practically of putting a road into shape may be done at the one operation. This is the second road making machine which has been bought for here this year. The other is a Fresno machine, which has been used with horse power.

Commissioner A. G. Schulz, who is in charge of the fruit tree inspection for this district, is attempting the formation here of an association of the fruit growers, which will be modeled upon the lines of the Citrus Protective League. At the present time the League is doing a good work, but this is a branch of the League, and a large number of independent growers, owners of nurseries and owners of orchards, which have not yet begun to share are not eligible to membership.

The idea of the new association will be to work in connection with the League in the matter of various problems connected with the industry and an attempt will be made to include the growers of the—Fanday, Exeter, Ducor and Porterville sections.

J. J. Blair, an aged veteran of the civil war, who was 74 years of age on the first of October, died at his home in the Sunnyside district yesterday afternoon after a lingering illness. He had been a resident of this section for many years and was one of the first orchardists of the district where he made his home.

The funeral services were held this afternoon from the Congregational church, and the interment was in the Home of Peace cemetery.

Eight barrels of sewer pipe for use in the new city system, were inspected at the S. P. Yards yesterday afternoon, and a large proportion of the shipment was found either damaged or badly as to be useless or so much cracked as to be second class. A large proportion of it will be returned. The contract with the southern firm from whom the pipe was bought, is conditioned upon the material being delivered P. O. R. Porterville in first class shape.

EXTRADITION EVIDENCE ARRIVES TOO LATE.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—The evidence in the case of Amari de Amaril, the Portuguese alleged to have murdered a fellow countryman in the Azores islands in 1903, has arrived, but too late for the original extradition proceedings which were dismissed because the papers were not received within sixty days of Amari's arrest.

Proceedings are now pending before U. S. Immigration Commissioner Griffiths to have de Amaril deported as a criminal alien.

Consul General Duarte of Portugal has not yet decided to have the accused man re-arrested for the renewal of the extradition proceedings and may content himself with the action of the immigration authorities. After his escape to this country Amari was tried in his absence and found guilty of murder.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The plea that he is dying saved Martin Oppenheim, dealer in German lottery tickets, from a convict's cell when arraigned before Judge Landis in the United States District Court yesterday. MADERA, Oct. 12.—A phonologist calling himself Le Roy was up before Justice of the Peace Barcroft this morning on a charge of blowing an orange bugle. His offense consisted of parading through the streets blowing a bugle. This sort of advertising is strictly forbidden by the ordinance, but Le Roy was not wise until Judge Barcroft fined him $5 for the offense. He requested in lieu of the money, but his honor could not see it that way, being perfectly satisfied with his own knowledge of what his criminal hump signifies. He suggested a lump job of it. The phonologist stated that he would like to examine the ordinance, but he was not allowed to see what was in the hands of trustees who would pass such an ordinance. He finally paid his fine, and the bugle was not heard on Madera's streets any more.

The testimony in the case of the people vs. Jose Verdugo was all in yesterday, and the arguments will begin tomorrow. Ray Northern, the city marshal, and Constable Lewis testified for the defense. Their testimony was to the effect that Mrs. Belmont told them that the man who fired the shot had gone outside and that he was dressed much different from defendant, was in the room at the time. It was their second visit to the house that the woman pointed out defendant as the shooter.

Ed Wall had one of the bones of his left hand broken this morning by being struck by a horse's head, when the animal threw it up suddenly, hitting him on the hand. Dr. Ramson attended him.

C. Jordan came here last night from the forty-mile mine station to have injuries to his left arm attended to. He got his hand caught between two bundles of lumber in the mine yesterday and his hand was badly crushed. Dr. Ramson attended to him.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Eastin and Mrs. E. M. McArthur went to Fresno today on a visit to friends.

COPPER SHIP GOES ON ALASKAN SHORE.
SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 12.—The large clipper, 1134 tons, Captain Aust owned by the Coastwise Steamship and Dredge Company, Seattle, was on shore in Karta Bay, Southeastern Alaska, about sixty miles northwest of Kodiak, about midnight on Sunday. With her holds awash and the heavy cargo of 2300 tons of copper ore straining her timbers, the pumps in the large hold could not be depended on to keep the water down and to save her from foundering the old hull was put on the beach.

Tugs have been sent from Kodiak to stand by and the cargo will be lightened into barges and the vessel's hull pulled up to keep out the water, after which she will be brought to Seattle and dry-docked. Some rough weather started her seaward and although the pumps were kept hard at work, the water steadily gained until it was seen that it could not be controlled at all when the tugging tug, which was towing the clipper, headed for the beach in Karta Bay, on Prince of Wales Island, and sent its tow on to the shoal.

The clipper was once one of the clipper ships of the now fast disappearing old wooden fleet of square riggers which carried the Stars and Stripes into every sea. She was built in Boston in 1874 and had a varied experience. She has been cut down to a barge for several years.

KILLED UNDER STREET CAR.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—As the result of a thrilling ride upon street cars, Aquin Irena, 14 years of age, son of a laborer, lost his life today. When he hopped off a car on Vermont avenue he struck the car directly in front of a car going in the opposite direction and his body was badly mangled, death being instantaneous.

VISALIA MAY BAR

Lindsay, Cause.Visalia Men to Begin Drilling for Oil in Devil's
Den District.

VISALIA, Oct. 12.—Much uneasiness is being felt at Lindsay over the discovery that in four nurseries of orange trees recently set out near there, all are infested with red spider. The four nurseries of orange trees shipped from Florida and later found to contain the spider. As the insect does not lay its eggs on the seed but on the limbs of trees, it is presumed it was carried in the wrappings.

Suspicion is now being cast upon all seed obtained from the peninsula state and it is feared that other heads may be infested. There is no quarantining upon the seed, as there is upon nursery stock. It is likely the supervisors will be asked to pass an ordinance quarantining the seed hereafter shipped into this county.

Directors L. Lucier, J. Sub Johnson, T. Hayes, L. Clark and John Eizenhauser of the new Eizenhauser Oil Company, leave tomorrow morning for their property north of the Devil's Den in southern Kings county, to select the location for the well. Pumps have been ordered and other supplies and boring will be commenced as soon as a derrick can be erected and the necessary articles hauled to the place. Members of the company claim the prospects are excellent.

Confirmation has been received of the intention of the telephone company to lay its wires underground along the block adjacent to the new city hall.

The company intended to abandon its project and would string the wires on poles. Along with the confirmation of the previous decision, is the statement that with sixty-foot poles such as we have to be used, it is cheaper to put the wires underground than overhead.

The charge of "assault" with intent to murder against Jack Toughlagan, an Armenian of the Churchill district, has been dismissed. Toughlagan was accused of having fired at Hyak Spenshian, the buller evening star, Spenshian's cheek and also wounding a Greek named Jordan. It was shown that Spenshian had given the other two beatings and his victim was in fear of a third when he pulled his gun and fired. Toughlagan was in love with an Armenian girl and believed Spenshian a rival contender to her affections.

Rev. W. A. Boshier, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, in this city for the past three years, has been returned here by the conference of that denomination just closed at San Jose for a fourth year. Rev. Boshier has been a successful pastor and his return will be welcomed by many friends, both in and out of the church.

Visalia Circle, Women of Woodcraft, is planning an entertainment for November 18. A force comedy will be presented and a number of vaudeville features. There will be an open meeting and a number of invitations will be issued.

"Discovery" day in Visalia was observed today by county officers, who closed their doors during the day. There was no court held in either the superior or justice departments. The land office, postoffice and banks and business houses generally were open as usual.

Mrs. T. R. Whiteaker of Porterville, who took a dose of a clothes changing solution by mistake for a dose of medicine recently, and is now at the county hospital, may be able to leave that institution in a few days, having almost recovered.

REQUESTS TO CHARITY.
CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Under the terms of the will of Mrs. Sarah Morris, widow of Nelson Morris, who died in an automobile accident on September 16, bequests of nearly $400,000 are made to charitable institutions.

A principal among these is a gift of $300,000 for the erection of a hospital for children in memory of Nelson Morris and the testatrix.

Nov. 29 to Dec. 4.

DINUBA, Oct. 12.—A. J. Scoggins, one of the best known pioneers of this community, is under arrest charged with assault by Joe Goree. Goree has been living on the Scoggins place for the past year, and there has been considerable ill feeling between him and Scoggins for many months. Friday morning the aged gentleman was in the yard, according to his story when Goree came upon him with a pistol and demanded $25 which Scoggins had offered to give him if he would leave the place at once. Scoggins says he immediately turned about and went to the house. Goree following him into his bed room. Here Goree grabbed him by the beard and then pulled the old gentleman onto his bed, according to Scoggins' story. Goree admitted that he followed peace and constable that he followed into the bed room and there engaged in a scuffle. Mr. Scoggins claims that after Goree had shoved him onto the bed he tried to defend himself and knocked the gun out of his assailant's hand. He then tried to free himself from the man, and reached his hand into his coat pocket and pulled out a small pocket knife and made for Goree. The knife was used effectively and slight flesh wounds were made in Goree's chest and head. About this time it is claimed Mrs. Goree came in and helped her husband. Later in the morning both parties came into town and sought warrants for the arrest of the other. Goree was granted the warrant for the arrest of Scoggins, and the latter was allowed to go on a $500 bail bond. The case has caused considerable interest, owing to the advanced age of the defendant.

Mr. and Mrs. Powers of Grand Island, Neb., the former a brother of Mrs. Kirkpatrick of this city, have come here to spend the winter.

The students of the Dinuba high school held a delightful entertainment in central block hall Saturday night.

It was given for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of the new building for the school, and many interesting features were introduced. The seniors gave a fine program. The lower classes furnished each a booth for the sale of coffee and sandwiches, ice cream and cake, and the freshmen were interested in the one in which they offered the "fish pond" for entertainment.

W. V. Flournoy has brought in a lot of fine cling peaches for exhibition at the citrus fair. The fruit was very large, several of the peaches weighing seven pounds and two ounces. They are some propagated by Mr. Flournoy at his place near this city from stock he brought from the East and he says he will name them "Dixie clings."

Mrs. F. W. Nowl reports having shipped four turkeys to San Francisco a few days ago, that she received $10.25 for the four. Turkeys are reported very high at this time, and the dealers are looking for stock. The supply promises to be short at the holiday season.

Work on the citrus fair to be held here from November 29th to December 4th, is progressing rapidly. The printing of the premium list has been let. The large three-color posters are ordered and the contract for the construction of the temporary pavilion is soon to be let. The structure will be located on lots opposite the depot and will adjoin the rink. This will furnish one of the largest and finest show rooms possible to be had, and the floor space will all be taken, the people from various parts of this and Fresno county already applying for room for exhibits. The advertising committee will leave here Wednesday morning for various sections of the county and do some lively boosting for the exposition.

Miss Ellen McMullin arrived yesterday afternoon from San Francisco on a visit to Miss Adeline Thornton at her home in the country. There were a number of Miss McMullin's friends at the station to welcome her, and all are claiming a share of her visit, which unfortunately is to be altogether too short to satisfy the demands that will be made upon the society of this charming girl. Miss Thornton will entertain at a Saturday luncheon for her guests and Mrs. M. K. Harris will give another luncheon on Thursday. Mrs. Frank Short is making plans for an informal house dance on Friday night at which Miss McMullin and Miss Bette Falk of Boise City will divide honors. Miss Falk is a most attractive girl, who is visiting her cousin, Mrs. E. J. Manheim. There will be one or two other affairs inspired by these young visitors, several small dinners preceding the dance and several more evening affairs. Miss McMullin declares she must return to San Francisco on Monday, but Miss Falk will remain longer.

Mrs. Matthew Muller has asked a number of the younger matrons and girls for an afternoon of cards next Tuesday, complimentary to her two daughters, Mrs. Charles R. Elliott of Seattle and Mrs. Frank Ryan of Los Angeles. Mrs. Elliott and her only boy have been the guests of the Mullers for the past month or so, but Mrs. Ryan and her dainty little daughter, Miss Rosalie Ryan only arrived on Monday for a visit of some weeks in the Muller household. This is cousin, Mrs. E. J. Manheim, that these family reunions are especially delightful ones and the friends of both these charming young matrons are more than glad to have them here.

Mrs. A. F. Smith of Redding arrived on Monday night to be present at the wedding of her sister, Miss Sue Duly.

and Reverend Kenney tomorrow night. Mrs. John D. Hickman has asked some of her friends to spend the afternoon with her today for an informal sewing bee.

A wedding of much interest for next week will be that of Miss Maud McVey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McVey of this city, and Harvey Mount, a young druggist of Oakland. It will be celebrated next Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents on N street. The wedding is to be quietly celebrated, but as there is a large family connection and numerous friends on both sides much interest attaches to it. Miss McVey is to have Miss Helen Mount of Oakland as her maid of honor and John Mount of Napa is to be best man. Little Misses Grace Hutchison and Edna Rowe are to be flower girls, and a very artistic decorative scheme has been planned for the wedding. The guest list will be small, limited to relatives and intimates.

Mr. and Mrs. Harney Whalen Swift have sent out cards for an evening reception on Tuesday, October 26th, asking their friends to meet them at Mrs. Harry Judge Craycraft, whose marriage was an event of early October.

PRESIDENT TAFT MISQUOTED BIBLE

Got Solomon's Meaning, But Not His Words.

In New York the Bible becomes Official Campaign Document.

He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city.—King James Version.

He that conquers himself is greater than he who taketh a city.—President Taft Version.

He who ruleth his temper is better than he who taketh a city.—Otto T. Barnard Version. (Barnard is the Republican nominee for mayor of New York.)

It was that old funny fellow "Chaucer" who said in simplified spelling that the doctor's study was little on the Bible. He might say it today of public men.

Take President Taft's text in his lay sermon in the court house park Sunday—the sense was the sense of Solomon, all right, but the words were the words of Taft. "Taketith a city" was all that the president managed to get verbatim, but this enabled the reverend editor of the Republican to locate the real text by a stroke of coincidence. The president compressed "slow to anger" and "ruleth his spirit" into "conquereth himself," which about expresses the idea—in fact, it is stronger, because conquest is something more than rule. The righteous man rules his spirit, naturally; but when the unrighteous attains to righteousness he conquers himself. This exegesis is somewhat troublingly submitted to this Ministerial Union. It has been suggested that instead of the King James version, Fresno at least should adopt the President Taft version. The Republican county central committee may take some action on the matter.

It is curious, in this connection, that this same text was misquoted a few days before by another public man at the opposite side of the continent. Otto T. Barnard, Republican nominee for mayor of New York, quoted it this way: "He who ruleth his temper is better than he who taketh a city." The Sun tells what follows:

"It's just as well to be accurate when you quote from the Bible, especially as you are to speak in the Manhattan Congregational church next Sunday evening," remarked Congressman Barnard, his political manager. "The way you quoted that sentence isn't the way it appears in the Bible. It should be 'he that ruleth his spirit.'"

Mr. Barnard wouldn't be convinced that he was wrong, and finally he sent one of the men attached to local headquarters to buy a Bible. Then he found that Mr. Barnard was right.

"Yes, I see I was wrong," said Mr. Barnard when the quotation was shown to him, "and after this the Bible will be part of the campaign literature in these headquarters."

NIGHT SCHOOL TO OPEN AT Y. M. C. A.

Instruction to Be Given in Bookkeeping, Drawing and Law By Competent Teachers.

The local Y. M. C. A. has arranged for a number of educational classes to be conducted in the building this year. The classes are: Bookkeeping, penmanship, architectural and mechanical drawing, arithmetic, grammar and spelling and law. The very best instructors have been secured to teach. C. K. Kirby, Jr., the well known architect will teach the drawing classes. F. M. Fulstone, head of the commercial department of the high school, will teach the commercial branches and Attorney G. L. Aynesworth will teach the law.

The classes meet two evenings a week. The cost of instruction is fixed so that it is within the reach of practically everyone. The instructors give personal attention to the individual student so that he is able to make the best possible progress.

The classes begin next week and students are now being enrolled. Secretary Fechter will give full information to any young men about the classes. He can be seen at the Y. M. C. A. building or communicated with by phone Main 697.

Last year 45,000 young men found their way into association night schools of the country. Practically all of these are men and boys who work by day and study by night. Combined they have a larger registration than the twelve leading universities of the country. This activity on the part of the association is designed to meet the needs of boys who leave school early and are not fully equipped for their life work. It is stated that more than half of the boys of the country get no more than six years' schooling, and six out of seven leave school before they are 14.

DAIRY IS FOUND VERY UNSANITARY

Proprietor Is Arrested for Violation of State Law.

Many Creamery Dairies in Filthy Condition, Declares Dr. Aiken.

J. H. Severin, state inspector of dairies, swore to a complaint yesterday in Judge Graham's court for the arrest of W. W. Weltmore, a dairyman living several miles west of this city, charging him with violating the state sanitary law regarding dairies. Weltmore is charged with having no drains to carry away refuse, milk, water or sewage, at least fifty yards away from his cream house.

A subordinate inspector passed through this vicinity last August and warned dairymen who were violating the law that unless they provided better sanitary conditions they would be liable to prosecution. Many of the dairies heeded the warning, but Weltmore failed to take heed and his arrest followed yesterday.

In speaking of conditions in the San Joaquin valley, Severin stated yesterday that they were very bad in many places and that he has found it necessary in many instances to swear out complaints.

Dr. G. H. Aiken, city health officer, took occasion last night to approve the action of the state inspector, declaring that it was necessary.

"A large number of dairies in the county furnishing milk to the creameries are in an exceedingly filthy condition," said Dr. Aiken, "and something must be done to stop it. Tubercular bacteria has been found in butter and cheese manufactured from Fresno county milk."

"There is no uniform state or county law, however, by which the spread of tubercular bacteria can be stopped properly and unless there is a great deal of agitation there will be no legislation in this regard. Dr. Long and myself have been planning a trip to the country to inspect the dairies and create agitation against prevailing conditions. I believe there should be a law whereby every cow afflicted with tuberculosis might be taken out and killed."

"If this agitation is continued, I believe that at the next legislature there will be legislation which will place more power in the hands of the state and county veterinarians."

Dr. Aiken added, however, that the dairies furnishing milk to residents of the city were in good condition. In fact he stated that outsiders had often wondered how the authorities had been able to create such conditions here. Fresno, he said, has the reputation of having the best milk of any city on the coast. Not a quart of milk comes in here but what it is first examined.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—With the fight for the heavyweight championship of the world only a few days away, both of the principals have begun to taper down in their work. While the betting continues at odds of 10 to 4 in favor of the champion, considerable money is being placed on the short end.

One of the latest of the short end betters is Billy Papke, the Kewanee fighter, who has been defeated twice in the ring. Papke has written to Louis Biaz, his local representative, asking him to place a bet on the chances of his old opponent.

In his letter the Illinois middleweight gives the odds that he believes will outguess the champion, and the advantage for the heavyweight title is supremely confident that it will be added to the two which he already holds and he expresses this belief in the declaration that the coming fight will be a replica of the fight between Scott-Fitzsimmons match at Carson City.

Johnson is afraid of getting stale and for the last two days he has done nothing but routine gymnasium work. His manager declares that the big fight will be in a place of condition and he will not allow him to do any hard work before the match.

Tony Munkers and Freddie Jory will meet in the Athletic pavilion in Madera tonight in a catch-as-catch-can match for the middleweight wrestling championship of the Pacific coast. The bout will be at 150 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon. As much as both men cut out their training yesterday under weight there is little doubt but that the victor will not be tipped by either today's cut or yesterday's.

At 6 o'clock tonight, The Strangle hold will be barred and both men will be seen at their own style of milking. The advance sale of the goods is at 3 o'clock.

Moran of Ohio and Fred Fritz of Fresno will provide the curtain-raiser at 120 pounds. Both mitchers will be twenty rounds, and the victor will be three falls.

The bouts will be concluded by 10 o'clock in order that Fresno fans may return on Espee train No. 50.

SHIPPERS TO WAGE FIGHT AGAINST UNFAIR CHARGES

Fresno Business Men Resolve To Form Traffic Association To Procure Relief From Excessive Local Freight Rates

As the result of a meeting held last evening of business and professional men and shippers, it was resolved at Einstein hall to form a traffic association, and A. L. Hobbs as chairman of the assemblage was authorized at leisure to name a committee of five to take in hand the formation of this organization.

The meeting was called by the Chamber of Commerce. It was not attended as numerously as the importance of the subject warranted, but the interest and earnestness were none the less positive and the sentiment unanimous that something should be undertaken to relieve Fresno of the unjust discrimination in freight rates that the shippers suffer.

OBJECT OF MEETING. Chairman Hobbs declared in stating the objects of the meeting that he could not comprehend why every one paying freight rates, in or out of the city, was not at the meeting to lend assistance to the movement by his presence. The subject had been in the mind of the people for many years, and the chamber had pecked away at it without any defined organized purpose and no result. Mr. Hobbs referred to the injustice of the long and short haul and maintained that the railroad is a stubborn organization which must be as stubbornly fought. He believed enough law would be found and presented with a marshalling of facts in such shape as to compel it to yield to the demands of Fresno. He suggested the idea of a traffic or terminal rate organization for an organized fight to a finish.

OPPORTUNITY AT HAND. Chester H. Rowell was invited to address the assembly and outline the situation out of which he believed Fresno may obtain something practical and possibly a good deal. He favored the formation of a traffic bureau, but argued that the difficulties in the way of securing terminal rates are in nowise changed. Fresno is in its chronic condition of helplessness at the hands of the railroad, and yet he did believe the opportunity presented itself to demand and receive some concessions in rates because of the new powers granted the Interstate Commerce Commission, even though those newly granted powers are not the fullest exercise. He also pointed out the differences between the Spokane and Fresno rate cases which, while dissimilar, yet have points in common.

He referred to the wide application of the Spokane rate decision has been construed to have, and said that Fresno has in fact incoming terminal rates as on beer, autos, the things that bear is made of, wine barrels, heads and staves, but not under the name of terminal rates.

Still they are a reduced rate plus the back haul. He asserted that there is no reason in theory why this same reduced rate should not be granted on other goods, giving Fresno better rates and permitting its merchants to get into the foreign market, when now there is not a wholesale house here.

Mr. Rowell pointed out how the discrimination in rates prevents, for instance, the development of the business here of making curtain and the development of other new industries. Referring to the so-called incoming terminal rates he said that if Fresno can secure partial rates on some class of goods, there is no reason why it should not secure them on other commodities and the chance to secure them is now better than it has ever been, after a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission in review of its rate decision.

The speaker said that the burden should not rest on Fresno to secure terminal rates, but the effort should be to secure its share of the benefits under the Interstate Commerce law decision. This ruling is so important that he believed that out of it will come an entire new era in freight rates for equitable adjudication.

SEES RELIEF IN SIGHT. Frank H. Short, who is familiar with the subject under discussion because of his connection with the oil rate case before the federal commission, said in the recent legislation and decision he had every reason to believe that Fresno can secure relief, and perhaps considerable relief, from discriminating freight rates. He showed the advantages of a managed rate, and said he would like to see the formation of such a bureau.

Mr. Short said that from his point of view Fresno is entitled to a substantial reduction. It might not obtain a rate on entire quantities, but it might obtain a rate on reduction to permit it to carry on a competition on low rates on articles used in home manufacture. Referring to the oil rate cases, he said that he had made the contention that the nature of the railroad service was the worst in the world and then he showed as regards Fresno rates that nowhere in the world can there be pointed out an easier haul than between San Francisco and Eurekafield of 314 miles, with 315 feet as the highest elevation at any point on the line and Fresno only 280 feet.

Considering the easiness of the haul, the fact that it is exempt and free from natural obstacles and because of the immense shipments he believed that the rates are largely above the general rates when they should be considerably lower than the average low rate on like hauls.

Mr. Short's plea was for a fight for an equal distribution of the business, asserting once more that the resolution of the terminal rate question is only in a physical one in a canal or in water competition.

FRESNO MUST FIGHT. W. W. Phillips declared for a traffic association. It was his belief that Fresno could secure a substantial reduction on other goods but not without a fight. The association should be the agency that will induce business enterprises by securing favorable rates on the crude material.

At this point Louis Gundelfinger asked whether the Interstate Commerce Commission could come to Fresno to take up the rate hearing. Mr. Short said that the Fresno case is not at issue yet and he thought it would be doubtful whether the commission could be induced to come here at this time for the time for a hearing and it cannot well do that before the Fresno case is at issue.

Mr. Gundelfinger gave it as his experience from the past that under the very nature of things, Fresno could never hope to secure terminal rates, but urged that local rates be attached and that this be concentrated as the work of the association.

HEAVY LOCAL CHARGES. Sig Wormser followed on the same lines, quoting some figures on discriminating rates. Mixed furniture by the carload from Chicago to San Francisco is at the rate of $2.25; the local rate on 200 lbs. of chairs from the Middle West, $1.75; locally from $2.40 to $1.10. Mr. Wormser said that the local rates should be at-

THREE MEN ARE BURNED TO DEATH IN HOTEL FIRE

Charred Bodies Recovered From Ruins; One Is Positively Identified and the Others Are Partially Identified

From the ruins of the New Zealand Hotel, which was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning, the charred bodies of three men were taken shortly before 7 o'clock yesterday morning and are now being held by coroner Bean pending an inquest, which will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The dead are:

WALTER AERHART, San Mateo.
WILLIAM KINGDON, Fresno.
FRANK BECK, Fresno.

Although these names have been given in all the morgues, in at least one instance they have not been certain. Coroner Bean is endeavoring to establish more firmly the identity of the bodies and if he is unable to do so now, he will be able, in all probability, to do so at the inquest.

A Salmon man of Aertart, went to the morgue yesterday morning and positively identified Aertart from clothing he had on. Salmon and Aertart had been occupying the same room at the hotel for about a month. Salmon was awakened by the presence of smoke and flames in and near his room, and awakening his companion, told him to flee for his life and not stop to don any clothing. Salmon then fled and escaped, but he stated yesterday morning that his room mate had evidently intended to get some clothing and had been caught. When he left Aertart in the room, Salmon stated that that was the last he saw of him. When the body, supposed to be that of Aertart, was found, it was partially clothed, indicating that the man had endeavored to put on clothing before rushing away.

William Kingdon was identified by a hotelmaker whose name can not be learned at present, but it is expected that he will be present at the inquest this afternoon. The hotelmaker can not positively identify Kingdon, but thinks this is the man.

Beck, who was an old soldier, had not been positively identified by any one. When he was found, he was wearing a good many coats, he had only lived in the New Zealand Hotel for a short while. It was stated yesterday that Beck had been drunk during the entire time he had been in the house, that he had never been outside his room, and that the chambermaid had made his bed but once since he came. Beck was in such a drunken stagger on several occasions that he was taken for dead, but later found to be alive.

The body supposed to be that of Beck was at first thought to be that of Frank O'Brien, a Spanish War veteran, but O'Brien escaped.

Aertart was a carpenter by trade and had lived in the New Zealand house about a month. Nothing is known about him.

Kingdon worked for Castle Bros. up to Monday night and at that time was paid off in full. He was known as "Texas."

ORIGIN UNKNOWN. The origin of the fire is a mystery to all connected with the house. Robert Edgar, lessee of the restaurant and the rooms, who was sleeping in a room at the southeast end of the dining room, was awakened by flames pouring in from the north side of the house as a mass of flames. Ed Parrett, owner of the house, adjoining the hotel on the north, stated that there was no fire there at the time the fire was supposed to have started.

Ben Taplin and Jack Cleary, who had leased the saloon from the Henry estate, which owns the property, were in the hotel at the time of the fire. Cleary stated yesterday that he left the hotel at 11:45 and that everything was quiet and everyone in bed, as far as he knew. Whether or not defective wiring caused the blaze is not known, but this is given as a plausible reason.

There were about thirty roomers in the hotel at the time and the fact that all but three escaped is considered marvelous. When all were awakened, the house was a solid mass of flames and many persons were recorded. One man went out of a window with nothing but a shirt and a pair of shoes on, while another was also forced to go out through the window because by the time he reached the stairs, they had been destroyed.

The bakery owned by E. Parrett, adjoining the hotel on the north, was completely destroyed, the occupants of the building barely escaping with their lives and with no clothing whatever. Another building to the south of the hotel, owned by August Parrett, was also practically destroyed. All the property was well covered with insurance.

It would broaden the scope to take up all the ins and outs of the freight business of the valley.

A. P. May Inc. of Gardena wrote to say that the firm is of the opinion that the freight rates here are excessive and that they are strongly opposed to the fact that Fresno be made a Pacific coast terminal, this being a matter of considerable importance to every merchant in the San Joaquin valley, and assuring the meeting of its hearty cooperation in any movement toward that end.

Among the citizens present at the meeting were:

H. W. Williams, A. L. Hobbs, William Robertson, L. F. Hickman, James Gallagher, John W. Short, Frank K. Lyman, W. E. Chandler and son, Louis Gundelfinger, Sir Wormser, W. W. "DISCOVERY DAY" OBSERVED LOCALLY

Banks, City Hall and Court House Close Doors.

Knights of Columbus Hold Enjoyable Ball at the Hughes.

"Discovery Day" was observed in Fresno yesterday by the Knights of Columbus, the banding houses, the closing of the city schools and the suspension of business in the court house and city hall. The day was declared a legal holiday by the state legislature in honor of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. Although many cities throughout California observed the day by merry-making and special features, such as athletic sports, sports-making and exercises, Fresno went about it quietly and aside from the "closed door" signs at the court house, city hall and the various banks, one would not have known that it was a legal holiday. The stores remained open and business was transacted as usual.

The observance by the Fresno Knights of Columbus was in every way notable and commendable. The morning services at St. John's Catholic church were most impressive, and the ball at the Hughes hotel in the evening, which was largely attended and enthusiastically declared to have been a most enjoyable affair.

A 3 o'clock affair was sung in St. John's church by the Rev. Father Meyer, C. S. R., assisted by the Rev. Father Mitchell, chaplain to the Knights, as deacon, and the Rev. Father Azevedo of Sacramento as sub-deacon. The Right Rev. Monsignor J. M. McCarthy, D. P. V. F., assisted in the sanctuary, and the ceremonies were directed by the Rev. Father Fitzgerald, C. S. R.

The church was crowded to its capacity by the Knights of Columbus and their guests of the day, the Portuguese union of the State of California, now assembled in this city for their twenty-third annual convention, and by the members of the parish at large. A dash of color and military atmosphere were given by the uniforms of the members of the U. S. E. C., whose band followed the usual custom of military masses by playing the national air during the most solemn part of the mass, the consecration.

The service was preached by the Rev. Father Palmer, Ph. D., of Tulare. Dr. Palmer dwelt especially upon the character and mission of the great discoverer, noting his steadfastness in his purpose despite reverses and disappointments, and the great influence of his religion, the observance of its laws in every day life, the speaker said, was the dominating influence of the remarkable character of Columbus, who was a man of such a noble and over-hopeful of success in the times of disappointment, and still hopeful and strong to dare unknown seas with

BUGGY OVERTURNS; IS BADLY INJURED

Lone Star Rancher Thrown from Vehicle When It Overturns in Trying to Avoid Collision.

While returning to his vineyard near Lone Star Monday night in company with his wife and small son, C. H. Kuzanjian was thrown from his buggy and seriously injured when the vehicle was turned over quickly to avoid a collision with an incoming train. The train is said to have been devoid of lights and Kuzanjian was well onto the railroad crossing before he heard the cars as they came around a bend. No warning whistle was given. Turning his horse quickly the buggy became crippled and overturned in a flash, hurling all of the occupants heavily on the ground. Mrs. Kuzanjian and three-year-old son, Leslie, were but slightly injured, while Mr. Kuzanjian complained of a severe pain in his side immediately.

The missing girl is 5 feet 1 1/2 inches in height and weighs 108 pounds. She has brown hair and blue eyes. At the time of her disappearance she was wearing a brown middie-top skirt, a light brown shirt waist and patent leather shoes. She had a blue ribbon tied in her hair.
